FOREWORD

The Boilermaker is the symbol of spirit at Bradley-Bourbonnais Community High School. BBCHS got the nickname "Boilermaker" from Mr. O. W. Young in 1929. He came from Purdue University, which also has the nickname "Boilermakers." When he became coach at Bradley, Mr. Young gave the name of his alma mater to the school. He felt that the teams he was coaching exemplified the spirit of the Boilermaker.

"Boilermaking" requires a high level of co-operation, physical strength, condition and stamina, and a will to work. Boilermakers spring back after defeat. This spirit applies not only to athletics but also to scholastic ability.

The aim of the BRADLEYAN annual staff of 1959 was to produce a yearbook worthy of the Boilermaker Spirit and one that would tell the story of your school year at BBCHS. We have tried to capture and preserve that Spirit in these, the pages of the '59 BRADLEYAN. We hope that this spirit will remain with those who have attended BBCHS this year and with those who will attend in the future.

We hope you enjoy the BRADLEYAN as much as we have enjoyed publishing it. It was ours for nearly a year. Now it belongs to you and to the ages.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

America has learned that the place that we hold among the nations of the world depends upon the amount of education that is acquired by her citizens. Education is not only our first line of defense, but it is also our first line of offense and the basis of our learning to live with others in a manner that is best for all. Our government recognizes that this is one of the most important of our national life. We hope that as students of our high school you will live up to what should be expected of you in preparing yourselves to take your place as a good citizen of our country.

Your knees are showing.

Goo! Goo!

Somebody working?

Why didn't you call?

Look what Bradley did to her.

Who's taking this picture?

Tommy in trouble!

Beat it, bud!

I'll swat you one.

All in favor?

Manners?

Hitting the books.

Interesting, but uncomfortable.

I don't believe a word of it.

Guess who's the only senior on a losing basketball team??

Ummmmmm—that water's good.
